Application for Testing Accommodations
for the
Uniform Certified Public Accountant Examination

General Instructions

These instructions will provide you with all the necessary information about the availability of testing accommodations and the process for claiming a disability. Read all pages of these instructions carefully, as they outline and provide details about the steps that you must follow in order for the Board to consider and act on your request for testing accommodations.

1. Review the application for testing accommodations to determine which forms are applicable to your situation. It is your responsibility to make the correct determination, complete the personal information blocks, send the forms to the appropriate persons for completion, and see that they are filed in a timely manner.
2. Because some of the required documentation must be obtained from third parties, you should anticipate this delay factor and plan accordingly.
3. If you have not taken the Uniform CPA Examination as a Texas candidate, you must file your complete application for testing accommodations with your Application of Intent.
4. If you have taken the Uniform CPA Examination as a Texas candidate, you must file your complete application for testing accommodations with your Eligibility Application.
5. Carefully review your application for testing accommodations before you submit it to the Board. It will not be considered unless all forms are fully completed, signed, and where required, all required documentation attached. If your testing accommodations application is incomplete, it will be returned to you for completion, which may delay the approval of your Application of Intent.

6. Be specific in detailing your request for testing accommodations. Only those accommodations actually requested will be considered.
7. You are responsible for all costs you incur in establishing that you are a qualified person with a disability under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).
8. Any disability-related information which you submit to this office and any documentation or information that third parties submit on your behalf will be afforded all confidentiality allowable under applicable laws.
9. If you indicate on your Application of Intent or Eligibility Application that testing accommodations are requested, additional time will be needed to evaluate your documents and reach a decision on your request. Your application will not be approved until a decision is made, which could take several weeks.

The Law

As an applicant claiming a disability that requires testing accommodations, you must complete and submit the enclosed forms applicable for your disability. The burden of proof is on you to establish the existence of a disability protected by the ADA, as well as to establish the need for testing accommodations and the reasonableness of the accommodations requested. Each application for testing accommodations is evaluated on a case-by-case basis. The Board's objective is to provide effective and necessary accommodations to qualified applicants as defined under the Americans with Disabilities Act, without fundamentally altering the measurement of the skills or knowledge the examination is intended to test.

The ADA requires the Board to provide testing accommodations to those individuals who have a permanent disability which substantially limits a major life activity. Although you may provide the required documentation establishing that you have a disability, that does not automatically entitle you to testing accommodations on the Uniform CPA Examination. Unless you establish that your disability has substantially impaired a major life activity, you will not be entitled to testing accommodations on the exam.

“Testing Accommodation” means an adjustment or modification of the standard testing conditions that ameliorates the impact of the applicant’s disability on the examination process without fundamentally altering the nature of the exam; imposing an undue administrative or financial burden on the Board; compromising the security, validity, or reliability of the exam; or providing an unfair advantage to the applicant with the disability.

The ADA authorizes the Board to require specific documentation and to establish procedures to evaluate that documentation in order to ensure that the applicant is an individual for whom accommodations are required under the ADA.

The Application

The level of detail and documentation required in this application is necessary in order to establish the existence of a disability protected by the ADA and to provide the Board with all necessary information for determining the specific accommodations, if any, that are merited. The various forms must be completed and signed by a professional who is familiar with your disability. The health care provider or other qualified professional must identify your disability, substantiate the diagnosis, describe the functional limitations it imposes on you, and detail the manner in which it limits an identified major life activity. He or she must also make recommendations about the specific accommodations you need on each section of the examination and provide an explicit rationale for these recommendations. The Application for Testing Accommodations consists of Forms A - G, which are described on the following pages:

The Process

Your application for testing accommodations and accompanying documentation will be reviewed for completeness shortly after it is filed. Before making a decision regarding your accommodations, the Board's staff may submit your application for testing accommodations and the accompanying documentation to an expert of the Board's choice for evaluation and recommendations. After all of your testing accommodations application materials have been appropriately evaluated, you will receive a letter from the Board telling you whether you have been granted testing accommodations. Testing accommodations applications are processed in the order in which they are received. Therefore, the earlier you file your application for testing accommodations, the earlier you will receive notification of whether your request for accommodations is granted. If your testing accommodations are granted, you will receive a letter from the Board detailing the accommodations granted, as well as a written agreement for you to sign and return, which states that you accept the terms of the testing accommodations.

The Appeal Process

If your application for testing accommodations is denied in whole or in part, you may appeal the decision of the staff to the Qualifications Committee of the Board. In order to appeal, you must send a letter addressed to the Executive Director of the Board, stating the specific basis of your appeal. Your appeal letter must reach the Board's office no later than the date specified in the denial letter. The appeal will be considered by the Qualifications Committee of the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy in a meeting held in compliance with applicable state law. An appeal of testing accommodations is not a hearing at which new evidence is produced or oral arguments made. It is a review by the members of the Qualifications Committee of the record in the Board's file relating to you, which includes:

- the application forms for testing accommodations, accompanying medical records and other documents, and the follow-up information generated as a result of your application for testing accommodations;
